

Would you like to make the Historic Church of St. Patrick your forever home (with all due respects to Property Brothers who use that same caption)?

The Staff and Finance Council are considering the installation of an Irish-themed columbarium on the property but want to make sure there's enough interest to make the substantial investment in building the niches here at St. Patrick's.

A columbarium is a free-standing structure housing a number of niches for the interment of cremated remains. The system we're considering consists of a cubic foot sized niche (adequate for up to five urns) and would also feature scenes from the Irish countryside. The cost of a niche would be competitive with other places around the city and region; in part to fund the required "Perpetual Care" endowment to make sure the units are adequately cared for over the long time between now and when the Second Coming is announced.

Would the Cliffs of Moher appeal? Or perhaps a hillside studded with Irish wool still 'on the hoof'?

Or simply a magnificent wall of Connemara marble?

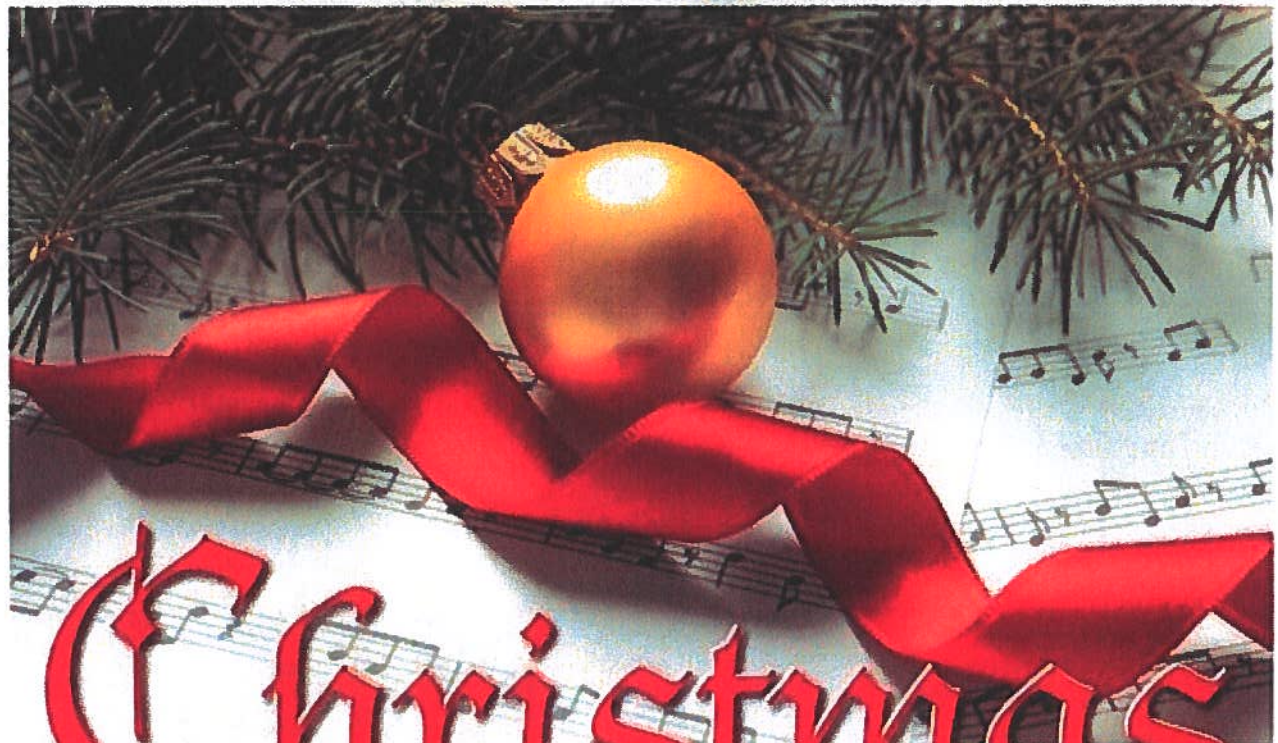

Imagine our campus graced with such a unit. If interested, please fill in the information below and drop it in the collection any time before Christmas. If we move forward (we'd be looking for around 150 pre-completion reservations) the system would be ready by summer 2022.

Yes, I'm interested in having my remains in a columbarium at the Historic Church of St. Patrick.

THE BOOK OF REVELATION: BREAKING OPEN THE MEANING

Join Us for an Evening of Reflection
Historic Church of St. Patrick
130 Avondale, Toledo, OH
December 7, 2021
6:30-8:00 p.m.

The Book of Revelation conjures a variety of feelings in people:

- fear of the end of the world*
- questions about the meaning of visions and symbols*
- worries about numerology and the meaning of 666*
- anxieties about the "signs of the times"*

This evening of reflection is intended to:

- dispel the myths*
- help participants understand the writing style employed by the author of Revelation*
- highlight the historical setting for the book*
- explain the spiritual significance of its message*

Let's break open the meaning and reveal God's Word!

Presenter: Sister Shannon Schrein, OSF, Ph.D.
